

Nathan Power, Junior sailing Instructor

Hello! This summer I am very excited to be joining the WBYC Team as a Junior Sailing Instructor! My name is Nathan Power, and I've been sailing with the WBYC camp since 2010, starting in the small Optis, and making my way up to the 420s and the racing team.

I also began to work as a C.I.T three years ago, but now I'm very excited to play a larger role in teaching your kids how to sail! As well as my experience with WBYC, I have been sailing with my high school racing team in Boston for four years. I have participated in many regattas and races, both with my Boston Latin School team and with WBYC.

I am very excited to help pass on some of these skills that I have learned over the years, and I'm looking forward to a fantastic summer!
