To the membership committee of Waquoit Bay Yacht Club,

Bob and I bought a second home on Seapit Road 4 years ago this month. We had long looked forward to returning to this lovely area that Bob's family had enjoyed for many years. We have met many wonderful neighbors on our street and have enjoyed being their guests at several WBYC events. Now that we have finally completed the many projects we wanted to accomplish on our home on Seapit Road, we are anxious to expand our involvement in the neighborhood.

One of the ways in which we want to become more involved is to join the Waquoit Bay Yacht Club and become members in our own right. Judy enjoys small boat sailing and hopes to become involved in the WBYC racing program. Bob's mother and uncles were actively involved in club sailing for WBYC many years ago. Our family has also been actively involved in the Appalachian Mountain Club for multiple generations. (Our 4 children are 5th generation members!) We have greatly enjoyed the satisfaction, comradery and sense of tradition that comes from involvement in a member-operated facility. The AMC facility we are most closely involved with is the Three Mile Island camp on a 43 acre island on Lake Winnepesaukee. Everyone in our family has performed many roles and held many offices within that organization, and we have all shown up regularly for opening, closing and work weekends. We look forward to finding ways to become involved at WBYC in similar ways.

Both of us have been also been involved in many community activities in our home town, Conway, Massachusetts. Judy served on our local school committee for 13 years, chairing for 12 of those years. Bob was actively involved in the many clubs and sports teams our children were involved in during their growing up years. He is currently serving as a Conway Select Board member, chair of our town's broadband committee and chair of our Community Access television station's board.

We hope that there may be spots open at WBYC this year for new members and look forward to meeting with the membership committee this Spring to discuss further the possibility of our joining the WBYC community.

Yours,

Judith E. Loughlin
